Ways to Participate

Service Learning

Moraine Park Technical College is committed to community engagement and student success. The College supports these commitments through the opportunity for students to participate in service learning and apply their classroom knowledge to an applicable, real world environment.

Service learning is defined as a method of teaching characterized by student participation in an organized service project that meets an identified community need and is connected to course content-specific learning outcomes with structured reflection relating to the service activity. Service learning gives students the opportunity to volunteer their time and skills to meet a community need as a team member on a project that is meaningful and relative to their area of study. For more information on service learning, contact Kim Spartz, Student Community Impact Coordinator at kspartz@morainepark.edu (kspartz@morainepark.edu) or 920-924-3217.

We encourage our students and staff to share their time and talent, connecting and volunteering to help and improve the communities where they live, work and go to school.
